MONEYDESKTOP BREAKS GROUND IN LEHI

Financial Software Firm to Anchor Thanksgiving Park Building 6

Lehi, Utah | July 30, 2014 – On Wednesday, July 30th MoneyDesktop, a financial software firm, broke ground for Thanksgiving Park Building 6. MoneyDesktop will be the primary tenant in the new building in Thanksgiving Park. The building will feature 860,000 square feet of class A office space and a LEED Silver certification.

According to the company’s website, “MoneyDesktop is the leading provider of online and mobile money management solutions and has become the fastest-growing provider of its kind. In two years, MoneyDesktop has partnered with more than 400 financial institutions and 29 online banking, core, and payment network providers. MoneyDesktop positions financial institutions as the Financial Hub or Primary Financial Institution for account holders.”

Lehi Mayor Bert Wilson (center) was on hand to help break the ground.

Several notable people attended the groundbreaking, including Lehi Mayor Bert Wilson, Lehi City Administrator Derek Todd, recently-announced Director of the Governor’s Office of Economic Development Val Hale, State Senator Mark Madsen, and State Representative Jake Anderegg.

Mayor Wilson said that Lehi “is the place” for economic development, and several of the speakers indicated that the project was the result of strong cooperation between the private and public sectors. Thanksgiving Park Building 6 is slated for completion in May 2015.
