December 2015

From Mayor Wilson

December is a great month for us to look forward to. The elections are over and we have three great individuals to serve on the City Council- Johnny Revill, Mike Southwick, and Paige Albrecht. I'm looking forward to working with the new and existing members of the council. We have many issues and opportunities before us and I'm confident that we will be able to meet the challenges straight on.

I want to thank all the individuals who ran for elected office for all the time and energy they put forth through the campaign season. Any person willing to run for office is a winner for having the courage to care about our city and willing to try to make a difference.

I was personally disappointed that our RAP tax did not pass because we could have done great things with our recreation, arts and parks. The demand is great for these areas, but we will make do with what we have. It may take more time to get what we want done, so please be patient. You can only stretch a dollar so far.

The Veterans Day program on top of the overpass on 500 East by the high school was a great success. This was an occasion for everyone to remember. We often take our freedoms way to much for granted and don't appreciate those men and women who served to keep us free and give us all the freedoms other countries can only dream of. So if you see a Veteran tell them thanks no matter which war or conflict they served. They sacrificed for each of us and so have their families. Plan to attend next year to see the pride of our city as our Veterans are honored for their service.

Christmas is here and it's time to overfill on the turkey and ham with all the trimmings and have more sweets than a person can imagine. I would hope that you and your families are able to enjoy the holidays with peace and happiness in your lives. Be grateful that you have a family (or good friends) to eat with and that you have somewhere to go for the holidays. If you have these things, consider yourself very blessed. Don't be afraid to invite a neighbor to dinner and share the blessings.

Also, as a reminder as we approach the snow season, please do not park on the roads when it snows. Our snow plows are meaner and tougher than your cars and if they don't hit you they will bury your car. It's just common sense, but sometimes we all need the reminder.

Remember the real meaning of the holidays. Have a great holiday season and be grateful for the problems you have because they could be worse.

- Mayor Bert Wilson
