From Mayor Mark Johnson

Having Hope during COVID-19

I suspect for most of us, our greatest concern last December was our holiday purchases. The economy was strong, unemployment was almost non-existent and whatever products we needed were readily available.

Not one of us anticipated the change that was rapidly approaching.

In January we watched a new disease outbreak in Asia and by mid-February, it had an official name; COVID-19. Soon after, we began to realize that the world was under the seize of a pandemic. We watched and our concern grew as health professionals, disease scientists and political leaders scrambled in determining the best course of action to combat this aggressive virus as it infiltrated the United States.

It is scary and heavily debated but one thing was certain, this virus was so hostile it demanded respect and preventative action had to take place based on the potential of its most damaging path. Health professionals and scientists needed time to prepare for what may come and the public was asked to deliver. I know that incredible sacrifices have been made. I have been here with you in these very difficult times and have also suffered the consequences.

As of this writing there is still much speculation as to the outcome and the timing of when life will return to normal, but it will. Please understand that. This is not the first time we as a nation have suffered and overcome a treacherous disease and in fact, we are far better prepared to overcome and bounce back than ever before.

George Washington was so concerned about the infliction of the smallpox virus that he proclaimed in 1777 that it was potentially a greater threat "than...the sword of the Enemy." It had raged during the Revolutionary War and he eventually ordered that all new military recruits be inoculated with smallpox by a most rudimentary manner immediately upon enlistment. In May of 1796, the Third Congress adopted the law entitled "An Act Relative to Quarantine" and it was signed by President Washington.

This law was written in one simple paragraph, but authorized Washington to aid the states, at his discretion, "in the execution of quarantine" and "in the execution of the health-laws of the states" (1 Stat. 474).

We have been through this before and we will emerge from it with strength and the force of freedom. We have very capable scientists working diligently on a cure and they will be successful. I have been overcome with emotion in seeing the support and charity of many of our

Census 2020

Beware of Scams

Please be aware that Census takers are not currently going door-to-door. They won't be visiting homes until June 1 at the earliest. If someone comes to your door to take your information, please call the Census Bureau at 844-330-2020 to confirm the Census takers identity. It is also important to know that the Census Bureau will not send unsolicited emails to request your participation in the 2020 Census.

The Census Bureau will never ask for the following information:

- Your Social Security number
- Your bank account or credit card numbers
- Anything on behalf of a political party
- Money or donations

For additional information on scams, please visit the Census Bureau's website: <https://2020census.gov/en/avoiding-fraud.html>.

Remember, this is the first year you can take the Census online. Go to My2020census.gov to complete it.

Beautiful Lehi

Take Pride in Our Community

Beautiful Lehi is all about coming together as a community and doing projects to help make Lehi look and feel like a beautiful place to live. Join residents, city employees, and elected officials as we take pride in our community. This year we are encouraging residents to continue practicing social distance while they get out and do projects in their neighborhood and home.

While there are a lot of projects you can do outside during Beautiful Lehi month there are other ways that you can do your part to Beautiful Lehi. Visit www.lehi-ut.gov/recreation/events-celebrations/beautify/ for more information.

Lehi City Hall

Closures

With Lehi City Hall being closed here are ways to continuing making payments and reaching out to other departments.

- Call the Information Center at 385-201-1000 for City-related questions, to pay a utility bill, or to be transferred to a specific department
- Use the drop box located in the City Hall parking lot for your utility payments rather than going into City Hall
- Use your utility bill or driver's license at the North Point Solid Waste landfill for one dump of 500 lbs. or less rather than picking up a dump pass

We appreciate your efforts to help us combat the spread of COVID-19 and to keep our community and employees safe.
