How to Play BUNCO

Each game consists of six rounds, progressing in order from one to six. Players are divided into tables of four players each. The game starts when the Head Table rings the bell.

When play has started, players take turns rolling three dice, trying to score points. The goal is to get 21 points before everyone else on your table in each round. Points are awarded as such:

- 21 points if all three dice match the current round number... BUNCO! (Yell it loud!!)
- 5 points are awarded if all three dice match each other, but do not match the current round number
- Finally, 1 point is awarded for each die matching the current round number.

If points are scored, the player gets to roll again, continuing to add to their score. If no points are scored, the player's turn ends and the next player at the table begins their turn.

Each round ends once a player has scored 21 points. After all 6 rounds are complete, the game is ended.

After each game has ended, the winning person from each table moves to the next table, while the other players stay put. After everyone has moved tables, a new game will start.

Travel Bag

The travel bag doesn't necessarily have to be a bag, it may be anything that is fun, safe, and easy to throw, like a stuffed animal, small pillow etc. The travel bag is called such because it "travels" the entire game, being thrown from one player to another. The way to win the travel bag (and therefore the travel prize) is to have the travel bag in your possession at the end of all the games. Any time three 2's are rolled, the player who rolled them will yell out, "Travel!" and the travel bag is thrown to them. This continues throughout the game until it is over and the one holding the travel bag gets the prize!

Ending the game

After all the games of BUNCO are finished, players will add up their scores from all the games. Prizes will be awarded for the top 3 highest scores and a consolation prize for the biggest loser with the lowest score. There will also be a travel bag prize awarded to the player who has it in their possession and a prizes for the player with the most Buncos.

Bonus prizes:

At the end of each game, a raffle prize will be awarded to a random player.
